

Earth Love Month

Day 30: Take stock and recommit

The Earth Love Month is over today, but your commitment to bettering the environment need not end here.

Take a moment to reflect on everything you've done this month, every deliberate effort. Take a moment to feel proud of yourself for having done some good.

Don't worry if it wasn't perfect or if you didn't read every e-mail. Even if you took a single action as a result of Earth Love Challenge, then it was all worth it!

Share your efforts with us on Twitter (@manhattanmft) or Facebook!

Commit to carrying on the effort going forward. There is plenty that you can do in your daily life that can make a difference. You can always refer back to the Challenge for ideas. The entire Earth Love Month is archived here.

Thank you for sharing this journey with us! It's been truly inspiring!